EXCITEMENT IN CITY OF MILAN

Mobs Storm and Ransack Metropole Hotel During the Night

FLASHING SIGNALS?

Great Battle of Austro-Italian War Believed to be Drawing Near—Invaders Near Trieste.

Milan, May 28—A violent anti-German demonstration broke out here during the night. Mobs stormed and ransacked the Metropole Hotel because of a rumor that signals had been flashed to the Austrians from the roof.

Rome, May 28—The first great battle of the Austro-Italian war is not many hours away.

Italian forces of invasion in the Trentino and along the Isonzo river are pressing forward to within a few miles of where large Austrian armies lie entrenched.

In both districts the clash of arms is imminent.

The war office emphasized this fact today in an official statement.

General Cardorna reported the Italian army that captured Coromns and Cervignana is pressing upon Gortiz and Trieste, where large Austrian forces are known to be awaiting battle.

The Austrian seaport town of Grado, lying but eighteen miles from Trieste, has been occupied by Italian troops.

In the Trentine, a great artillery battle is developing. It signals the beginning of the first engagement between large bodies of Itulian and Austrian troops in the Tyrolean Alps.

The Italians continue to press forward in the Adige river valley and in the region of Lake di Garda.

Along the Carnis Alps fierce fighting has occurred in several mountain defiles between small bodies of opposing forces. The number of Austrian prisoners is reported to be growing hourly as the Austrians continue to fall back upon their entrenchments.

Italian aviators have been active all along the front. They have executed daring reconnoitering movements in treacherous air currents high above the Alps. Several air-men have dropped bombs near Trieste itself.

PRAYS FOR NATIONS AT WAR.

Pope Benedict's Heart Bleeds at Sight of Much Misery.

Rome, May 28.—"The hour which we are traversing is painful, but our prayers will go out more frequently and more fervently than ever to those who have in their hands the acts of nations," is a declaration made by Pope Benedict in a letter to Cardinal Vannutelli, published in the Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ. The Pontiff recalls his first encyclical, in which he urged the belligerent nations to make peace, but points out that his voice was unheeded and the war continued until "the terrible conflagration has extended to our beloved Italy."

The Pope exhorts all Catholics to practice with him for three days a strict ecclesiastical fast, and he accords a plenary indulgence applicable also to souls in purgatory.

Continuing, the Pope writes:

"I wish that the echo of our voice might reach to all our children affected by the great scourge of war and persuade all of them of our participation in their troubles and sorrows. There is little of the grief of the child that is not reflected in the soul of the father."

WHITMAN GRANTS STAY

New York Governor Prolongs Beckers Execution one Week.

New York, May 27—The New York American says:

"A stay of one week in the execution of Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, has been granted by Gov. Whitman. He announced this last night in Chicago, where he stopped over on his way to the Pan-American Exposition in California.

"There is no doubt that Becker can talk he said. It is impossible for me to discuss the matter any further. I have granted Becker a reprieve until July 18. I will return to Albany July 12. Whatever official action I may take in the case will be at that time.'

"This indicates that the friends of the former police lieutenant are ready to adopt the last resort to save his life, although it was announced from a source that cannot be disputed that all hope had been abandoned by his family.

"It was intimated that when Gov. Whitman returns he will be asked to commute Becker's sentence to life imprisonment, in return for which the latter may tell all he knows concerning the gambling graft in police circles, with which he was connected.

No possible disclosures of police corruption or revelations of the identity of the man or men higher up in the division of money paid for police protection—no plea Charles Becker can make— will save him from the electric chair if District Attorney Perkins can prevent it, according to announcement made by Mr. Perkins.

In making his announcement Mr. Perkins took official cognizance of a current rumor that Becker, facing death for causing the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was willing to confess all he knows if his life should be spared. Becker's second conviction was affirmed by the court of appeals and his execution set for the week of July 12, or, if custom is followed, July 16, the third aniversary of the Rosenthal murder.

ON 10,000 MILE HIKE.

Thomas B. Turner Trying to Reach Boston From San Francisco.

Thomas B. Turner, a long distance walker, visited the Gazette office late yesterday afternoon. He is walking from San Francisco to Boston on a wager made in San Francisco, of which city Mr. Turner, though a native Georgian, is a resident. He will receive $5,000 if he completes the ten-thousand mile hike in 18 months. His route covers Mexico and Cuba, between which he traveled on a steamer, but had to pace the deck for 180 miles, the equivalent of the distance between the two ports of the ship.

So far Mr. Turner has covered in rough numbers, 9,500 miles, the distance between Frisco and Washington along the course laid out by the other parties to the wager. He expects to walk the remaining 500 miles to Boston within the next two months so that he may reach Boston and taking a train get back to San Francisco before the eighteen months is up, he having already walked for about 15 months. The exact time limit placed on him is before November 26th of this year.

Other conditions of the wager specify that the walker cannot sleep in a bed and must earn his meals by his own work or the fluency of his tongue. He is very sociable and in dead earnest about his undertaking. He bears a number of credentials from newspaper men in the cities he has visited to show where he has walked, looks the picture of health, and appears to be benefited by his long walk.

MILLIONS SING MARSEILLAISE

News of Italy's Entrance Into War Arouses Enthusiasm.

SPREAD AMONG ALLIES

Operations in the Three War Zones—German General von Sanders Receives a Wound.

With the French army at the front May, 28—A mighty chorus from 2,000,000 throats sweeping down the 500 miles from the North Sea to the Swiss border in thunderous refrain of "La Marseillaise" greeted the welcome news that Italy had entered the war against Austria.

The story of how that message went flashing along the trenches at dusk of a brilliant Whitsuntide, how it spread to every remote outpost a long the world's greatest battlefront is without parallel in history.

Salonika, May 28—Gen. Liman von Sanders German commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces at the Dardanelles, has been wounded in the fighting on Gallipoli peninsula. Dispatches received here today said that the German Admiral von Sudom has succeeded von Sanders.

For several days the Turks have been rushing re-enforcements toward Krithia along the railway leading through the peninsula. It is now estimated that Turkish land forces at the Dardanelles number 210,000. Opposed to these are allied troops numbering less than 100,000.

Constantinople (via Berlin), May 28—A Turkish night attack resulted in the capture of two English positions, near Kurna, in Mesopotamia. It was officially announced today.

The English are counter-attacking but the Turks have repulsed several charges.

London, May 28—Startled by the destruction of the Princess Irene, a mine layer, at the Sheerness navy Yard, at the very gates of London, with its loss of 400 lives investigation of persistent rumors that a German spy is at work within the government service is already under way.

It is pointed out today that only six months ago the battleship Bulwark was blown up at the same spot and similar rumors went out to the world while the admiralty ridiculed the idea and refused an investigation. But no report of the mystery was ever made public except the laconic announcement that the warship was the victim of "an internal explosion"

Petrograd, May 28—Russian troops have occupied Urumiah, the mission center in Persia Armenia where wholesale sacrifices of Armenians by Turks and Kurds recently occured it is announced today.

Urumiah lies sixty four miles southwest of Tabriz, and is one of the chief missionary centers in Persia. The Fiske Seminary for Girls, under foreign direction and Urumiah College are located there.

The war office also announces the defeat of a band of Kurds in the Caucasus and another victory over the Turks near Bashkalu.

EXPLOSION ON A SHIP

London, May 28—Ally the crew of 250 men of the British steamer Princess Irene, except one man, and in addition 78 dockers who were at work on board the steamer, 327 men in all lost their lives yesterday when the vessel was blown up by explosion on board in Sheerness harbor.

The steamer was in government service, and was undergoing repairs.

Sheerness is a naval arsenal of Great Britain on the Thames. The admiralty, in confirming the explosion on board the Princess Irene, says:

"The princess Irene was accidentally blown up in Sheerness harbor yesterday morning. So fas as is yet known, only one survivor to the ship were not on board at the time of the disaster.

"Several men belonging to vessels lying close to the Princess Irene were wounded by falling splinters."

REMARKABLE STORY

Alter Boys Declare They Saw Vision of Christ

Paterson, N. J., May 28.—Parishioners of St. John's R. C. Church are excitedly discussing the statements by five altar boys that during the benediction at the close of vesper service Sunday night they saw a vision of Christ upon the Altar.

According to the boys the vision was first seen by John Brennan, twelve. He is of a deeply religious disposition and says that he has often prayed that Christ would appear on the altar to him. He says that the face and shoulders appeared as a mist or cloud. The other boys agree with his description.

Rev. Edawrd Hilloch, senior curate, says the boys appear to be perfectly sincere. He has been conducting a series of experiments to see if any combination of lights in the church could have misled the boys or caused a monentary reflection. He declines to discuss the matter beyond this.

TRIM VIRGINIAN

Hawley Loses Ten-Spot to Stranger In New York

New York, May 28—Arthur W. Hawley, of Richmond, Va., met two pleasant strangers yesterday and now he is $10 lighter in the bank roll and that much heavier in experience.

Hawley, who is stopping at the MeAlpine, was asked by a polite stranger for directions as to how to reach Madison Square. Detectives Mugge and Cassassa, standing in front of the Imperial, saw the meeting and recognized the party of the second part as one "Providence" Burns who had been "up the river" for grand larceny. So when they saw Hawley and the other walk away, they trailed along.

By and by Burns met a friend who joined the two, and the stage being all set, the first thing Hawley knew he was matching coin in Fifth avenue. He was $10 out and still going when the two sleuths hove up alongside. The second man escaped, but "Burns" who gave the name of John Heyward, was arrested.

GERMAN SAILORS GO CRAZY

Several on Interned Merchant Steamers Placed in Jail

New York, May 28—Several of the German sailors on board the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American steamships which have been docked at Hoboken since the beginning of the war have become mentally balanced and have been placed in the Hudson county jail in that city. Three of the sailors became so violent that it was necessary to take them from the German steamships and place them under observation. One of the men from the Barbarossa of the North German Lloyd Line, on returning from a trip ashore, asserted that he was Emperor William and issued orders directing a battle in France. Afterward a blacksmith on board the Vaterland threatened to sink that steamship because she would not carry him back to Germany. On Wednesday a steward of th the Barbarossa was sent to jail after becoming too vehement.

Dr. George King, the county physician attributed their strained mental condition in part to enforce idleness melancholia and homesickness.

Miss Louis T. Davis, of Leesburg, Va., is spending several days in this city.

Dr. Robert Mitchell, of Southside, Va., has returned home after visiting relatives in this city.

ALLEGED ATTACK ON NEBRASKAN

United States Embassy Begins Rigid Inquiry at Liverpool

WAS IT A SUBMARINE?

Captain of Steamer Cannot Say Positively That Vessel Was Struck by a Torpedo.

Liverpool May 28—Under direct orders from Washington, the naval attache of the American embassy at London began a rigid inquiry into the reported torpedoing of the American steamer Nebraskan by a German submarine.

Captain J. S. Green and officers of the Nebraskan were quizzed at a secret session while preparations were being made to put the steamer in drydock for a careful examination of her hull.

What statement her master made to the American attache is not known but to newspapermen Captain Greene frankly admitted he could not swear positively that the Nebraskan was torpedoed or that she hit a mine.

"The best I can say is that something struck us at about 8:25 Tuesday night while we were about forty miles west of South Cliff," said Capt. Greene. "It is my belief, however, that we were hit by a torpedo. The chief engineer said he thought he saw something resembling the wake of a torpedo on the starboard side just before the explosion. He is not certain about it.

Liverpool, May 28—The American steamer Nebraskan, which was disabled Tuesday night by an explosion off the coast of Ireland, arrived here last night. The captain said:

"I saw no submarine, but am certain it was a torpedo which hit us.

"Moreover, a submarine could not have failed to see our name and nationality, which was outlined in huge letters on our sides."

The members of the crew of the Nebraskan were agreed that the explosion was undoubtedly caused by a torpedo.

The forward part of the ship is completely wrecked.

Capt. Green told this story of the damage to his ship.

"We left Liverpool Monday. The next night, 48 miles off Fastnet, at 8:24 o'clock we were torpedoed. Only ten minutes before we had hauled down the American flag, but it was quite light and the submarine must have seen the big white lettering on our sides, which read 'Nebraskan of New York'.

"I was below at the time. There was a terrible shock, which threw everybody aboard off their feet. Immediately afterwards came a tremendous explosion, which slightly injured two quartermasters and the boat swain, hurled the derricks 30 feet high and blew up the hatches."

The ship was saved from sinking by the strength of her No 2 bulkhead which held back the flood and bouyed up the ship. Considerable damage was done to the deck and fittings.

X-RAY REVEALS RUBBER

Alleged Conspiracy to Ship Contraband Abroad

New York, May 28.—A conspiracy to defraud the United State through the filing of a false manifest on exports of rubber, in order to conceal its contraband charneter, is alleged in indictments found by the federal grand jury against Harry R. Salomon, his cousin, Albert Salomon, of the importing and exporting firm of Saloman Brothers, of this city; Albert B. Newman, a commission merchant; Franz Rorenberg, of Hanover Germany, representative here of an Austrian rubber company and Sigmund Karman, of Budapest, Hungary a rubber expert, who also is said to be in this city.

Shipments of a line grade of rubber, valued at $50,000 are alleged to have been falsely manifested for export probably to Germany by way of Italy. One lot, it is stated was found concealed in 300 barrels of rosin and the latter in 178 barrels of cotton waste. The shipments were detected as the result of an X-ray examination and were seized.

The defendants are alleged through the filing of the false manifest, to have caused the collector of the port to trasmit untruse and inaccurate reports to Washington in violation of the federal criminal code.

While classed as technical violation of the customs laws, the acts charged also are considered by federal officials to be violations of American neutrality.

BRITISH NAVAL LOSSES

The Triumph is the ninth battleship unit to be lost so far in the war. With the exception of the Turkish old style battleship Messudiyeh (December 13) the loss of these units, ranging from 11,800 tons each, has been borne by the Allies as follows:

Eighth British—Audacious (October 27,) Bulwark (November 26,) Formidable (January 1), Irresistible (March 18) Ocean (March 18), Goliath, (May 13) Triumph(May 26), Majestic (May 27). French-Bouvet (March 18). The five last named have been lost in the Dardanelles operations.

The Triumph, sunk on Wednesday, which was commanded by Capt. H. S. Fitzmaurice, was a vessel of 11,800 tons and of 12,250 horse power. Her complement of officers and men in time of peace numbered about 700. The vessel carried four 10 inch, 14 7.5 inch guns and 14 14 pounders and four six pounders. In addition, she carried two 18 inch torpedo tubes she was 436 feet long and had aspeed of about 20 knots

FINAL SERIES OF CONFERENCES

Congress Awaits Report on Transportation Proposals

PAN-AMERICAN LINE

Delegates From Chili Again Make Plea for Better Shipping Service on the West Coast.

Washington, May 28—The final series of "group conferences" from which will come recommendations to the general conference this afternoon and tomorrow, began today among the visiting delegates to the Pan-American Financial Congress which is rounding out an epochal meeting here.

With the close of the financial conference scheduled tomorrow the financiers of the Americas swept aside practically all social duties today and devoted themselves strictly to the business of making suggestions for the betterment of trade relations among the principal countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Special interest centered in the second meeting of the joint committee on transportation, which is seeking to bring about a fast line of steamers between the American countries. That this committee will analyze the possibilities of both private and Government steamship lines is probable. Its final report is not expected until tomorrow.

Following the many "group conferences" of the morning, the general conference will convene again at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Pan-American building for the receipt of such reports as are ready.

Legislative action by several of the American republics is deemed necessary before decisive progress can be made to induce private capital to engage in extending shipping facilities. This was stated to the transportation committee today by several of the United States and Latin American delegates. Sentiment also appeared to favor of granting subsidies both direct and indirect, by the governments interested.

Chilean delegates today called attention to the fact that the west coast of the two continents is in more serious need of new shipping lines than the east coast.

STEAMER ST. JOHNS.

Summer Trips to Colonial Beach Will Commence Tomorrow.

The summer trips of the big steamer St. Johns, to Colonial Beach, the Atlantic City of Washington, will start with the Decoration Day trips tomorrow, Sunday and Monday. The steamer will leave here at 3 p. m. tomorrow and at 9:30 a. m. Sunday and Monday. Her boilers and other work done to the St. Johns makes her much speedier than she was last season and she will this season be able to make the run between this city and Colonial Beach in about three and a half hours instead of four and a half or longer in the past. At Colonial Beach the hotels will be open and many cottage owners will go there to open their summer homes for the season. Another change of interests to the lovers of the pleasant Potomac resort is the fixing of the Sunday rate at 50 cents instead of $1, as it was last season. On the return trip from the Beach the steamer leaves at 6 p. m. and arrives here about 10 p. m. From now until the opening of the regular season the St. Johns will make Saturday and Sunday trips to Colonial Beach. On other evenings she will make her pleasant moonlight runs down the river. Music and dancing will be a feature on all trips of the St. Johns.

RELICS OF OTHER DAYS

Old Alexandrian Unearths Notes Made at Old Capitol Prison And Fort Warren.

Littleton Morgan Davis, former member of the Board of Aldermen from the Third ward, and one of our oldest and most esteemed citizens, while looking over his archives recerently brought to light some interesting papers. Mr. Davis was a southern soldier during the war between the states and is a member of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans,. He was at one time an inmate of the Old Capitol prison in Washington and after the surrender of Fort Warren, in Boston harbor. Among his fellow-prisoners on the latter occasion were several southern generals, among them the late Eppa Hunton, Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, Vice President of the Confederacy, and Rev. George A. Smith, and Dr. M. M. Lewis, of Alexandria. Mr. Davis was discharged from Fort Warren May 31, 1865, fifty years ago next Monday. His brother, Americus Davis, was also liberated at the same time.

Among the papers relating to those days is a sketch of fellow-prisoners in the Old Capitol. In the number is Dennis Darden, who, Mr. Davis says, was an expert at cards and aided his fellow companions in durance vile to pass away the long and dreary hours.

The name of Darden will reproduce an incident in Alexandria's history during the civil war. At that time a man named McCarty conducted what had previously been known as the Nebraska House on the south side of King street, between Pitt and St. Asaph. The late Harrison Jacobs was at one time associated with him. At the close of the war McCarty moved to Washington and became a lobbyist at the Capitol. One summer night in the latter part of the sixties Darden and McCarty, between whom bad blood existed, met in the street, and engaged in a fist fight, during which Darden drew a pistol and sent five balls into McCarty. The latter was attired in a Marseilles suit, and after he fell his life's blood oozed from the five wounds. As it spread over his white clothes it was sickening to the crowd who gathered around him. McCarty's wife, a beautiful woman, ran to the spot, and falling upon his body sobbed piteously. There are a few still living in Alexandria who remember McCarty and his wife and the sad parting told above.

TRIBUTES TO A GREAT VIRGINIAN.

The unveiling of the statue of John Warwick Daniel at Lynchburg Wednesday was not only a great event in that city, but it has animated thousands in the Old Dominion who, while absent in the flesh were present in spirit. Virginia since colonial days has been adding to her galaxy of the great, and in his early manhood it was apparent that Daniel was destined for a pedestal in the Hall of Fame. Professor William M. Thornton, of the University of Virginia, delivered the oration. It was listened to with close attention and, being published in full, is being read with interest everywhere.

John Warwick Daniel wielded a power over an audience possessed by but few men. His flights of oratory were electrical and his auditors bent forward to catch his words. He often appeared in Alexandria, and the announcement that he was coming always filled Armory Hall, the Opera House, or the Confederate Veterans' banqueting hall.

He delivered the oration at the dedication of the Washington Monument February 22, 1885, and many Alexandrians and people from the surrounding country walked to Washington on that occasion.

During the memorable campaign of 1883 John S. Barbour was the chairman of the state democratic committee with his headquarters in Alexandria. Daniel was the Patrick Henry of that day when the democratic party was passing through its ordeal. William Mahone headed the readjuster party which then domineted Virginia. The political generalship of Barbour and the eloquence of Daniel brought the party from the cloud which had settled over it and wrested the Old Dominion from the hands of the organization which had been at the head of its affairs for four years.

The Presidential compaign of the following year, which resulted in the election of Grover Cleveland, afforded Daniel and Barbour another opportunity to display their powers. The former was rewarded with a Senatorial toga and the same honor was later conefrred upon Barbour.

Many now living remember the appearance of Daniel in the Opera House after the triumph of the democratic party in the Presidential election. The audience at times lost their heads. The speaker was at his best and his flow of soul entranced his hearers. The gallery was packed with ladies whose enthusiasm was unbounded .The speaker while at times pathetic, manifested also a vein of humor, and as an answer to the complaints of some that the party was not using the official axe fast enough, Daniel told the yarn about the farmer who was using a stump extractor. One of his neighbors told him he was working the instrument slowly. The farmer replied, "Yes, but I don't want to break it."

Towards the close of his address he referred to the labors of the democratic party during the two score years it had been in the minority. "It had gradually advanced," he said, "until it has now reached its goal. Like climbing the Black Mountain, the ascent is rough and tortuous, but when once the summit in reached, the atmosprehe becomes serene, the stars of heaven glimmer, while below is the beautiful vale of Cashmere."

Prof. Thornton toward the close of his oration said:

"This august bronze will figure for coming generations, or your children not Daniel alone but that earlier age of which Daniel was the essential product and the latest flower. When the time comes to assess his value as a statesman, to weigh and to measure his gift and his genius, he must be compared not with the men of his own epoch, but with the statesmen of that earlier day. If the speaker were required to place him in that great company, he would rank him below Daniel Webster, or Henry Clay, or John C. Calhoun; but higher than John Randolph of Roanoke, higher than Alexander H. Stephens, higher thna Jefferson Davis."

LONE STAR IN THE CLASS.

Only one boy graduate at Maple Hill was honored, when Gov. Capper of Kansas, drove thirty miles through the mud and rain to deliver a commencement address to him. Some weeks ago the Superintendent of Schools at Maple Hill exacted a promise that Gov. Capper would come and address the graduating class on Wednesday. The Governor learned that the aforesaid class consisted of one lone boy, but the Governor kept his engagement, just the same.

The above shows that the facilities offered in our day for acquiring an education at public expense is not appreciated by the many. In fact, but a corporal's guard evince the interest in education that should be apparent in all. Many years ago the exhibit made at a certain institution showed that a Chinaman received the prize for proficiency in language, a Hindoo excelled in mathematics, an Irish lad in rhetoric, a Japanese in history, and an American as pitcher in the baseball club of the institution.

Education is not valued by a large percentage of the youth of our day. Too many other things absorb their attention, and it is a fact to be regretted that the mass who graduate generally throw away their books after their school days and forget all they ever knew.

The writer has several times been surprised to see stacks of books, some of which should have been prized, thrown in heaps upon the floor of junk shops where the backs were being pulled from them preparatory to sending them north where they are ground up and converted into paper for other books. These come from educational institutions, the scholars having discarded them when their school days were over.

In D'Aubigne's History of the Reformation we read of Martin Luther while a boy, singing in front of houses of the opulent for his supper after the studies of the day. He was often forced to pawn one of his books in order to appease his hunger. It is not so now.

A French aerial squdaron composed of 18 aeroplanes, each one carrying 110 pounds of projectiles, yesterday morning bombarded a chemical factory at Ludwigshafen, on the Rhine, opposite Mannheim. His clutch failed to work, and the car started back down the hill and turned turtle into a ditch. Mrs. Dodge was pinned under the car.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Powerless to render aid, six persons helplessly looked on while Roland Neibergall, aged 24 years, drowned in Hampton Roads, near Robinson's crab factory, Newport News, Wednesday, after falling from a moving launch. The young man attempted to put the boat about and the tiller broke and precipitated him into the river.

The body of Capt. John T. Dowdy of the schooner Mary S. Ewing has been recovered after having been in the water since April 3. Dowdy and his crew of two were drowned.

It has been learned that, in an attempt to escape from the British steamer Michigan, out-bound from Newport News for England a few nights ago, two sailors dived headlong into Hampton Roads as the vessel, going at full speed, neared Old Point. One of the sailors, a Dane, was drowned and the other, a Norweigan, was rescued only by quick work on the part of a life saving crew. The rescued man was taken on board the vessed, wihch later proceeded to sea.

Miss Oberia Walker, aged 16 years, to marry Luther Dixon, aged 19 years, procured a license Tuesday, spent Wednesday night in the matron's detention room at police headquarters and Mr. Dixon went back to work unwedded. Capt. F. F. Walker, father of Miss Oberia, objected to the marriage of the couple because of their youth, after having given his consent, and upset all their plans. A license was obtained with the intention of a wedding Wednesday night and everything went well until six o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Oberia was conducted from the home of a girl friend and detained in the matron's room at the request of her father. "They can keep me here just as long as they please," the girl said, "but that won't prevent my ultimate happiness, for where there is a will there is a way."

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man" writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. EXCITING EXPERIENCE

Norwegian Steamer Kronstad Run Gauntlet in War Zone

Norfolk, May 28—Captain Messel whose Norwegian ship, Kronstad, passed in the capes last Sunday, went to Newport News for bunker coal and passed out Monday afternoon on her way to Galveston, Texas, tells an interesting story in which he notes a British coast and wherein he condemns hte methods o the Berman submarines.

Captain Messel says: "On this last trip outward from Androssan, Scotland, we got some experience how the Germans are carrying on their submarine blockade of the British Isles, which shows how inhuman they are.

"On May 5, the weather begin thick and foggy, the lookout reported a small boat coming up on our starboard side, which from our telescope was soon recognized to be a German submarine of the larger type, with three men in the tower, coming up fast. Although he did not give any signal for us to stop, the engine was stopped immediately and the second mate ran aft and hoisted the ensign. Soon, however, the submarine turned her bow right for our bridge and discharged a torpedo which was aimed amidships. The captain who had been observing the enemy's maneuvers by the glass observed the torpedo soon as it was discharged and the engine was put to full speed ahead at once. Fortunately the officers of the submarine must have been wrong in their calculations of our speed for the torpedo missed, passing astern of us by about six feet. All hands had come on deck as soon as the submarine was reported and the torpedo was seen by most of them,

The orders were given to swing the boats ready to lower in case of another torpedo. But the submarine came up astern of us and turned her stern against the ship with obvious intention of sending a torpedo from his after tubes. The torpedo boat was immediately missed in fog bank.

As soon as the boat was out of sight our course was altered and we kept on at full speed hiding our starn lights and not giving any signals for about two and one half hours when the fog lifted.

"It was very difficult to understand the meaning of the submarine's action. The Norwegian colors were painted on three different sides of the ship and "Kronstad' and "Norge are painted in large letters on each side of the ship. As the engine had been stopped there was no reason to think we would try to run away.

"If the torpedo had hit it is difficult to say whether we would have had time to get the boats out to save the crew, since they had been put in their places with covers on, as we considered ourselves out of danger. This is proof that the German submarines have been torpedoing and sinking ships without warning and that they don't take much into consideration who they are going to sink All the civilized world ought to protest against the inhuman action in attacking merchant ships under neutral flags when in the neighborhood of the British Isles."

HEAVY DAMAGE IN WEST

Chicago, Ill., May 28—Dispatches from Michigan, Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Eastern Iowa fruit districts indicate that great damage has been done by the heavy frosts of Wednesday night. The weather continues close to the freezing point the wind has abated and the sky is clear, thus making conditions favorable for another onslaught upon whatever vegetation escaped.

Continued cold rains are said to be checkingand in many instancese destroying the armies of chinch bugs working in whate fields, but are also drowning out the plants.

KILLED BY ADMIRER

Young Woman Shot While Lying Down Ill

Stamford, Conn., May 28—An hour after a young woman known to her friends as Miss Hazel May Wilkins, a stenographer and motion picture actress, was shot and killed by Joseph Hennesik, an infauated admirer, it became known that in realty she was Mrs. Howard B. Hilton, of Gunford, Md., and that divorce papers had been served upon her on Saturday. Her husband, it is reported, accused her of desertion and also mentioned the name of another man in his accusations. The relatives of the young woman are said to live near Tampa, Fla.

Miss Wilkins, as she was known to all her friends here, had been with a motion picture company in Florida before coming to this city, three months ago. Here she had been a stenographer in a large factory.

She boarded with Mrs. Corinne Mathers, a dressmaker, who was an old friend of the family, but who did not know she had been married.

On Saturday night Miss Wilkins had told Hennesik, 45 years old, an expert machinist in a piano afctory, that he must cease his attentions to her.

Hennesik called at the Mathers home, walked through a room where Mrs. Mathers was fitting a dress on a customer and entered the room where Miss Wilkins was lying ill, Soon there were four shots, and Mrs. Mathers found both of them dead. The young woman had been shot twice in the head and once in her heart.

On Hennesik were four letters addressed to relatives—one to a brother, Frank, at 313 East Seventy-first street, New York, saying, "We are willing to die for our love." Another not said that as they could not be happy in this world they would be happy in the next.

FRANK BRIEF COMPLETED.

Hearing Before Georgia Prison Commission Monday.

Atlanta, Ga., May 28.—Counsel for Leo M. Frank have practically completed the brief they will present to the Georgia Prison Commission when the hearing on Frank's petition for commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment is opened before that body here Monday.

The attorneys said the brief would embody a minute chronology of the case from the discovery of the murder of Mary Phagan on April 27, 1913, and would assign these three basic reasons for Frank's appeal.

First—The doubt of Judge L. S. Roan, trial judge, as to Frank's guilt, as expressed when he denied the first motion for a new trial several months after the original verdict.

Second—The dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Fish and Justice Beck, of the Georgia Supreme Court, when Frank's motion for a new trial was denied.

Third—The dissenting opinion of Justices Hughes and Holmes, of the United States Supreme Court, in Frank's habeas corpus proceeding before that body.

Solicitor General Dorsey has filed a formal letter with the prison commissions, protesting against the communication of Leo Frank's death sentence. Coincident with the Dorsey letter to the commission it became known that many lawyers in the State have made appeals in the doomed man's behalf.
